JOURNEY ACROSS THE PLAIN

The following was written by Rev. Lorenzo Waugh, a native of Pocahontas county who became a noted pioneer preacher of the west. He wrote this about the year 1853. It was found in the Bible of the late Rev. James E. Moore, and handed to us by Mrs. Florence Moore Wood, of Hancock, a grand daughter of Mr. Moore. The man Elliott referred to in the poem was a relative of Rev. James Elliott Moore.

To all who love to read the truth, Especially to friendly youth, I'll sketch a trip across the plains
And tell its pleasures and its pains
'Twas on a clear and cheerful day, In 'Forty-nine'—the twenty-second day,
With brothers two, and father dear,
We left our home and kindred near,
Our number, whole, was nine times ten,
The most of whom were youthful men,
With teams and tents, and arms and food,
We struck our march in cheerful mood,
The words most heard were "Gee, whoa, haw!"

As on we moved, west of the Cascades, At Hike we caught a lovely dish
Of perch and trout and other fish, The antelope we then soon had,
Whose flesh is sweeter than the shad;
And buffaloes came in on Platte—
A splendid dish when thoroughly fat, Some elk we had, and grouse and hare,
And squirrels and dogs we did not spare,
Through all the land the Pawnees came,
We passed in peace, and ate their game.

The valley of the Platte is grand;
Its bluffs are thousands, shaped of sand;
Its ponds are mixed with alkali as you get up upon its high;
It is "Chimney rock" and "Court house pile"
Are of jets seen for many a mile;
It is its ports of trade and laws, Where white men live with Indian gangs.

We left the Platte our way to take, Across a hill called "Battie's make"
And in the dust and melting heat
We reached the stream called "Water Sweet."
We passed its springs which poison stick,
Then by the "Independence Rock";
The bluffs upon this stream are great One pass is called the "Devil's Gate"; From here we found both wood and grass, Until we reached the "Great South Pass."
Here, northward lies eternal snow On mountain ledges, with grass below.

The Springs Pass here are found,
In dreadful mazes, boggy ground;
But trains turn out to rest a day, As now they've passed near half the way.
Our train from here made progress slow,
By Bridger's Fort it had to go;
So by the time we reached Fort Hall
'Twas in the second month of Fall, Some of our train from here went back,
And some progressed, resolved to pack;
With twice thirteen we started on,
With each a mule, for Oregon,
We took our way with cheerful heart But four days on we got apart;
We left our camp before 'twas day,
And four of us thus lost our way,
We lonely traveled on till night;
But our comrades got 'no sight";
We laid down till break of day,
Then started on our lonely way,
We still had kept our friends to see,
And join again, their company;
But this day's facts the truth made plain.

That we this pleasure should not gain,
So we resolved, though now 'twas late To press toward the "Golden Gate."
The evening next, by pale moonlight,
A city seemed to catch our sight;
We saw its streets and towering blocks—
But lo! it was the "Steeple Rocks";
We passed it by in lonesome case;
And heard but owls in all the place.
Ah! deep we felt the impress run,
That we were far from every one;
And raked our thoughts, with feelings numb.

To him whose work these wonders are From here we pressed without delay, And Humboldt reached on the tenth day.
Here hostile Indians prey for grain,
And cartridges are sometimes slain But these we passed in safety by, Though oft we saw their fires high;
The "Gadsden's route," we aimed to take But "Lawson's track," in a mistake,
We now began to be distressed,
Our food was gone—we needed rest;
'Twas desert too, around us here, No game was found—no water near,
Some four days on we ate some mule,
And quenched our thirst with water cool,
And felt revived, and hoped anew That yet some day we should get through,
Soon, now, the rain began to pour,
And every stream was heard to roar;
But as we kept as best we might,
From break of day till fall of night, Some eight days on we stopped at night,
'Most pine of most surprising height
And laid us down to take our rest,
But after awhile, waked up oppressed The cause we soon were made to know—
For all were buried up in snow,
And still it fell till night was o'er,
And on, and on, for three days more,
We now were in a world of snow,
Yet, as all resolved to go,
And when one week of toil was passed,
Again the snow was falling fast;
And here, near by a stream, we crossed We found a man, alone—and lost,
He wept to see so strange a sight,
And told us that his name was White.
He further said, that here, once by,
Were four men more given up to die;
We spent with these a stormy night,
And started out next day with White
The others wept, though in despair—For when we left they still stayed there;

And doubtless, there they found their graves, Though they were Germans, bold and brave,
We now were lame with frosted feet,
And caribou beef was all our meat,
With snow shoe wide we had to go,
And thus we made our progress slow, But none were heard to make complaint, Though oft one grew both weak and faint;
We then would stop, and soothe and cheer,
And urge that all should persevere, Ereft, one day, we found a tent,
Abandoned by some emigrant,
And here we stopped and nine days stayed,
And fixed our shoes, or new ones made,
We stretched across ox bows rawhide,
And thus we waded upon the snow,
But up steep hills we crawled so slow
We now were in a crisis drear, Our tombs of snow we feared were near,
But two along in turns made prayer,
And asked the Lord to help and
spare,
At last we topped a mountain high,
And looked ahead with wistful eye—
When, lo! there was a glorious scene,
A valley long, all clad in green;
The sun once more to us shone bright And with us then was hope and light The melting snow poured down a branch,
And just ahead was Lawson's ranch, We hastened down, in hopes to find Once more a household, glad and kind,
And all in hopes to get a meal;
But folks we found with hearts of steel,
They coldly set some scraps, a few,
Then charged us dollars—twenty two We left them with their rout and
gain,
And ever think of all with pain.

The miners soon we found to be A noble set, both kind and free;
Their aid to us like manna fell,
And still we live to wish them well.

OBITUARY
On Friday night April 27, 1928, at 10 o'clock p. m. Mrs. Mary Ann Hinkle, widow of the late J. A.
Hinkle, died at her home in the Rochester, Greenbrier county, 24 years, aged 71 years, 24 days, heart trouble. She was a daughter of Wm. R. and Titina F. mrs. Nichols of this county, both of whom preceded her to the grave many years ago. She was born at Carroll Hill, and lived all of her life in Greenbrier county.

In the year of 1879 she was united in marriage to John Andrew Hinkle, of Richlands, son of Wm. J. and Sarah Rebecca, both deceased. He died three years ago. To this union nine children were born, eight living to mourn her departure. Viz. A. W. and Mrs. J. L. Herold of Hunters ville; J. W. High Point, N. C.; H. C.
Chicoago, Va.; E. R. Ray, and Mrs.
D. D. Persinger, at home. A daughter, Mrs. S. W. Morris, of Overland Park, Kansas, died April 10, 1921, injuries received in an automobile wreck. Eleven grandchildren survive; also two brothers, Samuel S. of Richlands, and Wm. Henry, of North Jackson, Ohio.

She was a professing Christian and in perfect sympathy with the church and all good causes. A dear mother whose chief ambition was to attend to the affairs of her home with the best interests of her children and those with whom she came in contact; from day to day ever at heart.
It was her pleasure and privilege to remain with her children until they have all reached the years of accountability. All her life no task was too hard and no obligation too great for her to endure in behalf of her home and family. She was always kind to everyone and loved by those who knew her best.

"She sleeps, she is not dead," We weep not as those who have no hope."
Funeral services were conducted Sunday afternoon at Calvary M. E.
Church, South, Richlands, by Rev.
T. M. Swann, pastor of Lewisburg M. E. Church, South, assisted by Rev. P. C. H. Insinger, pastor of Calvary church after which her remains were laid to rest beside her husband in Calvary cemetery beneath a lovely floral tribute—Greenbrier Independent.

RE-OLUTIONS OF RESPECT
In memory of Brother D. F. Hulzer, who died April 24, 1928.
Once again death hath summoned a brother Old Fellow, and the golden gateway of the Eternal City has opened to welcome him to his home.
He has completed his work in this life, and is resting in the arms of the Father. His life was a life of sincerity and integrity, and he has left behind him a good name and a legacy of blessing to those who remain. We commend his soul to the merciful arms of our Father in Heaven, and we trust that he will be able to assist us in our journey through this life. We will miss his presence and his counsel, but we trust that he will be able to assist us in our journey through this life.
We will miss his presence and his counsel, but we trust that he will be able to assist us in our journey through this life.

And whereas, The all wise and merciful Master who has called our beloved and respected brother home And whereas, He having been a true and faithful brother of our Mystic Order, therefore be it resolved:
That Winterburn Lodge No. 319
I. O. O. F. of Greenbank, W. Va., in testimony of its loss, be draped in mourning for thirty days and that we tender to the family of our deceased brother our sincere condolence in their deep affliction, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.
Green be his memory in the O. O. F.
heart,
He loved so well, through all his true life's span;
Best be his rest, who acted well his part,
Who honored God in doing good to man.
So let him sleep that dreamless sleep, Our sorrows crusting 'round his head;
Be comforted, ye loved who weep, He lives with God—he is not dead.
—E. A. Hudson, M. H. Sutton, R.
W. Brown—Committee.

JUDGE McCLINTIC TO GET HONORARY DEGREE

Roanoke College, Salem, Va., May 26—The Honorable George W. McClintic of Charleston, federal judge of the West Virginia district, will speak at Roanoke College on Sunday, June 3rd, upon the occasion of the Memorial Service which will be held for Dr. S. Carson Wells, former professor of mathematics and natural sciences at the college. Judge McClintic is a graduate of Roanoke college in the class of 1883 and is eminently fitted to represent his former college mates in paying tribute to the life-long service and undying devotion of Dr. Wells, who was also one of his own college professors.

The Memorial Service and Dedication of the marker at the grave of Dr. Wells will be held during the celebration of the 75th anniversary of Roanoke college. A program for the Diamond Jubilee Celebration has been arranged and will extend through the annual commencement activities at the college.

Judge McClintic in addition to being one of the principal speakers on the commencement program, will also be the recipient of an honorary degree from Roanoke college. The college will confer upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws at this commencement. This honor is conferred for the unusual ability and distinct fearlessness with which Judge McClintic for many years has administered law and justice—Charleston Gazette.

BIBLE THOUGHT AND PRAYER

If parents will have their children memorize a Bible selection each week, it will prove a priceless heritage to them in after years.

FRUIT OF THE SPIRIT:—Love, Joy, peace, long suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith, meekness, temperance, against such there is no law.—Galatians 5:22, 23.

PRAYER:—O Lord, our God, make us temperate in all things, and enable us to appreciate daily more and more this fact, that when our lives are surrendered to Thee, Thou dost make them rich in fruitfulness and beautiful with the beauty of holiness.

Mrs. E. Eugene and Mildred Fritchard of Dunmore, W. Va., and a classmate from Cass, W. Va., who have been attending Marion College of Virginia, called on their uncle, W. J. Pritchard, for a few minutes Tuesday evening enroute home. They were accompanied by their cousin, Carlen Pritchard.—Bath Enterprise

Relief From Curse of Constipation

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." It has been found that a tablet called Bexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the large, dry, contracted bowel, called the colon. The water softens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or over increasing the dose.
Stop suffering from constipation. Clean a Bexall Orderlies at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Bexall Drug Store.
